Purpose

Join us as we launch the SAO's annual member event. We're planning a fun evening out where members can network and share in our vision of building a strong technology community in Oregon.

Keynote by Bill Wehl, Green Energy Czar, Google

At Google, Bill leads efforts in energy efficiency and renewable energy, and also manages the company's greenhouse-gas footprint. He is an experienced technologist, entrepreneur, and committed environmentalist with deep and broad experience in computer science.

His extensive business and high-tech experience includes ten years as a professor of Computer Science at MIT, five years as a research scientist at Digital's Systems Research Center, and five years as Chief Architect and then CTO of Akamai Technologies.

Bill has been featured in Time's "Heroes of the Environment 2009" and The New York Times, "Q&A: Google's Green Energy Czar".
